TUESDAY EVENING, NOV. 20

THE NEW buildings of the Union The ological Seminary, in New York, were described last night by President Jacob G. Schurman, of Cornell University. who spoke at the dedicatory exercises now in progress as "striking expression of the spirit of religious progress, which he declared, however, was "larger than an institution." Among other things he said:

Whather we like it or not, a change is taking place in the attitude of religi ous men. The theological student who wants to improve the conditions of so ciety must master the social sciences and especially the sciences of econe mics and government. Scientific workers in all fields are the sages of our twentieth century. They have made it impossible for the men of this generation to regard dogmas as their fathers regarded them. To make belief, for example, in the history of the Jews : condition of the salvation of a human soul is in this scientific age of the world not only a physical impossibility, but an intellectual absurdity and an out rage on free moral personality.

The Bible is gradually being climinated from the colleges and theological seminaries of the world.

It is said that the various reports that, backed by President Taft, the republican leaders will make an effort to revise one or more schedules of the Payne tariff law at the approaching short session of Congress are wide of the mark. It can be set down as a fact that no changes whatever will be made in the Payne law by the present Congress. President Tait, it is reported. is anxious that at the earliest practicable date certain tariff schedules and paragraphs shall be revised by Congres but it is given out that he does not in tend, however, to urge action by the ways and means committee until he is able, through his experts, to point out the presidential chair.

IMPRISONMENT SUGGESTED.

It is very evident that certain railroads with terminals in Savannah are to be indicted by the United States Court now in session there for violating the Sherman and Elkins anti-trust acts. The United States grand jury went it session yesterday after listening to a long charge from Judge Emery Speer dealing entirely with these two national

It is currently reported from semi official sources that at least two railroads and one steamship company with offices there may be indicted if the investigation warrants.

Judge Speer said the time had come to quit attempting to punish the transportation companies by fines taken from their treasuries, but that under the Sherman and Elkins acts there should be some direct punishment of the offending officials.
